

For the LUV of the Game

Casey Goodwin | Tech Ops Maintenance Inspector

As an Arkansan, I didn't learn about hockey until I enlisted in the Air Force. There we a bunch of guys from "up north" who loved the sport and it eventually rubbed off on me. As my skills improved, I graduated from street hockey to ice hockey in my early 30s. Some of my Fellow Mechanics played in recreational leagues and I would join them for practice after my shift. Eventually, I felt strong enough to join a team and have been playing ever since! ➔
